CRUELTY.

THE BLOOD LUST OF DZIERZYNSKI.

[BY THE VERY REV. W. R. INGE,
DEAN OF ST. PAUL'S.]

The sudden death of Dzierzynski, about which the whole truth may not have been told, has removed from the earth one of the most horrible monsters who ever polluted it.

He was the life and soul of the Cheka, that appalling tribunal which for several years has held the Russian people prostrate and speechless with terror. All the instruments of tyranny known to the Tsarist government were by him given a sharper edge. Swarms of secret police, spies in every street, provocative agents, were kept constantly busy in finding new victims for the executioner. Torture, which had long been banished from Europe, was everywhere employed, with the help of Chinese experts in the art.
Some of the tortures seem to have been unknown in the middle ages, such as the "human gloves," made by tearing the skin off the hands and arms. The numbers judicially murdered far surpass any previous records. It is now five years since the Paris Gaulois copied from the Soviet newspapers the butcher's bill between October, 1917, and that date. The number killed then amounted to 1,572,713;
most of them were butchered in cold blood by the revolutionary tribunals. The victims were classified as follows:—
Bishops, 25; priests, 1,216; professors and teachers, 6,778; doctors, 8,800; army officers, 54,000; soldiers, 260,000; police officers, 10,000; constabulary, 48,500; landowners, 12,950; intelligentsia and middle-class, 355,350; peasants, 315,000.
Dzierzynski has been busy since 1921, but no figures of his later massacres are available.

A Gloomy Fanatic.

The prime mover in these horrors is described as a gloomy and cruel fanatic, who cared little for money or pleasure;
he had, in fact, renounced the world and the flesh in order to serve the devil more wholeheartedly.

Revolutions, when they are successful, bring this type of men to the top, not immediately, but after a struggle, in which the morally unfittest survive.
Marat and Carrier, Billaud and Barere, in the French Revolution, were precursors of Dzierzynski, though he has far surpassed them in the scale of his operations. These men are half insane, diseased in body and mind, possessed with a strange blood-lust which is led by fanaticism, fear, and cruelty. "Paris is too large," cried Barere; "we must have recourse to bleeding." "Let us raise a wall of heads between ourselves and the people," said another. "We are not going fast enough," complained Fouquier; "we want 400 or 450 heads every ten days."

Anatole France, in Les Dieux ont Soif, has drawn a masterly portrait of the typical revolutionist. The hero, Evariste Gamelin, after shedding torrents of blood, is himself drawn to the guillotine amid the curses of the populace. He reflects: "I die justly. We have been feeble; we are guilty of indulgence; we have betrayed the republic. Robespierre himself, the pure, the holy, has sinned
by gentleness, by clemency; his faults have been wiped out by his martyrdom.
I have spared blood; let my own flow.
Let me die; I have deserved it."

The Causes of Cruelty.

What is the explanation of these revolting outbreaks of cruelty, not only in half-Tartar Russia, but in civilised France? Every country is full of savages, who as soon as the restraints of the law are withdrawn will rush into violence and crime. The promoters of the general strike hoped to turn this underworld loose upon society in England the other day.
But we must probe deeper to find the causes of cruelty—the love of bloodshed, and torture.

Normally, we shrink and avert our eyes from the sight of cruelty with a horror which no other kind of evil-doing excites in us. We are conscious chiefly of pity, but do we not also feel instinctively that such sights are morally dangerous and degrading? A cultivated Englishman who went to see three men beheaded in the seventeenth century records that the first execution was received by the crowd with a groan of horror, the second with indiference, and that at the third the people laughed and jeered at the executioner when he dropped the head which he was to hold up. So quickly may our feelings be blunted. Familiarity very soon leads to callousness, and callousness to fiendish pleasure. Pathologists know well how closely cruelty is connected with lust.
The words sadism and masochism have been invented by the French to describe perversions which it is not pleasant to think of. But monsters of cruelty were not always known to be cruel. If it is true that Dzierzynski was once a painter in Sydney-street, Chelsea, it would be interesting to know what his neighbours thought of him then.

It is when a diseased mind is brought by some sudden turn of fortune's wheel into a position of irresponsible power, that these hideous proclivities often manifest themselves. Despotism frequently becomes partially insane. Some of the Roman emperors, such as Caligula, Domitian, and even Tiberius in his old age, seem to have revelled in inflicting torture and death. Ivan the Terrible, a contemporary of Queen Elizabeth, was notorious for his ferocity and violence;
he killed his own son with his own hand.

The Inquisitors.

Many Oriental kings and sultans have been connoisseurs in torture, and have enjoyed witnessing its infliction. When we turn to the cruelties of the Inquisitors we have the additional motive of religious fanaticism, which is present in a strangely perverted form in some of the enthusiasts for Communism. It is a strange thing, says one of Anatole France's characters, that if we begin by believing that all men are naturally good and just, we end by wanting to kill them all.

It is not easy for us to imagine the horrors of a torture-chamber, but perhaps it is worth while to make the attempt, for there is a danger that in our screened civilisation we may forget what human nature has been and still is capable of.
There is a précis of a trial by torture before the Spanish Inquisition in Lea's
"History of the Inquisition" which does not leave much to the imagination. The victim was a poor lady who was accused of wearing clean linen on Saturdays, and of not eating pork. Her answer that she liked clean linen and did not like pork was not received, and she was put through a long course of hideous tortures, which were repeated a few days later.

Fragile Civilisation.

At last it occurred to her that they wanted her to say that she had been tempted to become a Jewess, but now repented. So she said it, thereby proving to the satisfaction of the inquisitors that a second application of torture will often elicit the truth when the first has failed.
Or one may pay a visit, as I did the other day, to the old dungeons at The Hague, where all the engines of torture are kept in working order, as if they were to be used to-morrow. It is a sight which, once seen, can never be forgotten.

Are we in any danger of seeing medieval and Russian horrors at home?
We may hope not; but many things were done in the Great War which we never expected to hear of again in Europe;
some of the belligerents acclimatised themselves very quickly to the methods of barbarism. And our extremists do not seem to feel any qualms about the exploits of the Red Terrorists; one might suppose that they would be quite ready to do the same themselves. Human nature scarcely changes at all; it is custom and tradition, the atmosphere of a long, settled, and peaceful society which keeps us civilised. Our misguided intellectuals who dabble in revolution, and talk as if the institutions of a great community could be taken to pieces and put together again like a watch, little realise what a legion of devils might be turned loose even in a nation with so strong a tradition of order, kindness, and mutual toleration as our own. Civilisation is a fragile thing; if we are wise we shall take care not to break it.—Evening Standard.

CAPTIVE BALLOON CRASH.

FIVE PEOPLE DASHED TO DEATH.

AIRMAN PIONEER KILLED.

Four persons were killed outright and a fifth fatally injured in a balloon disaster on August 4th at Kempston Flower Show, near Bedford. One of the victims was the pilot, Captain E. T. Willows, formerly of Cardiff, and a pioneer in aeronautics. The accident was caused during the descent of a captive balloon. The trailing rope fouled a tree, and when efforts were made to effect a safe landing the balloon parted from its netting and let fall the basket.

Opinions as to the cause of the disaster vary: The balloon was attached to a hawser which was wound round the roller of a motor winch on the ground. The apparatus was in the corner of the field and close by were some rather high trees. Immediately before the accident the balloon had gone up to a height of about 600 feet and the winch had been started to fetch it down again. A storm was coming over and a north-east wind sprang up.

When the balloon was about 100 feet from the ground the trailing rope fouled a tree. There was considerable difficulty in getting the rope free. The pilot was seen shouting instructions, and it is said that his last words were, "For God's sake pull us down."

A large number of men seized the trailing rope and pulled with all their might to get the balloon down. The wind blew the balloon from one side to another, causing it to jerk backwards and forwards. One theory is that the envelope struck the tree. The man at the winch let out more rope with the object of getting the balloon clear of the tree.

Then, it is stated, a sharp crack was heard, and the netting supporting the basket was seen to break away.

The guide rope also broke, and all the men who were hanging on were thrown to the ground in a heap. The netting round the balloon then gave way, and the balloon rushed upwards, and the wind carried it out of sight. Late the following night the envelope was picked up at Liddington.

Builder of the First Airship.

The late Mr. E. T. Willows was the inventor and builder of the first airship which successfully flew in England. It was on June 3rd, 1906, that he surprised the world by steering his ship nearly 1,000 feet into the air at Cardiff.

In August, 1910, came his flight from Cardiff to London, which set the country talking of the prospects of airship flight.

Later, Mr. Willows had been living off Chiswick Mall in a schooner, the Herminie. In the course of an interview which appeared in the Press, he said luck was hardly ever on the side of the pioneer. "They don't seem to need us old stagers now," he said.

CHINESE AND WIFE.

A FORGIVING CARDIFF WOMAN.

Frances Gong Chue, a prepossessing white girl, entered the witness-box at the Cardiff Police Court to charge her Chinese husband with assault. She brought with her an ameliorating influence, for having given her name, she proceeded to assure the clerk that she had nothing to say against her husband. The Clerk pointed out that defendant had pleaded guilty, but Mrs. Chue would not have it. "I am to blame," she said, pointing out that he only pushed her against the wall.

And then came P. C. Thomas Bateman to shatter any illusions that might be left regarding the case. He said that he was in Bute Street at 10.30 p.m., when he saw defendant catch his wife by the throat and hold her till she was blue in the face.

It was all because she asked him for a few shillings with which to pay the rent. A fine of 40s. was imposed.

BISHOPS AND BUSINESS.

"NOT CUT OUT FOR IT."

MR. RUNCIMAN ON THE COAL SITUATION.

Mr. Walter Runciman, M.P., dealt with the coal situation in a speech delivered at Swansea on August 4th.

Referring to the interventions of the bishops and the ministers, he frankly expressed the opinion that he never trusted bishops or ministers in business, for they were not cut out for that kind of thing. They were certainly not equipped for dealing with such an amazingly complicated problem as coal cutting and selling. But they did one thing for which people ought to be grateful. They secured the confidence of the Miners' Executive. That was something gained, and it should be put to their credit.

Now, having secured the confidence of the miners, the bishops and ministers ought to go to the mine-owners—and with only one request—not laying down terms or making suggestions about rates of pay or subsidies from the tax-payers, but go and say "lock yourselves up in one room and remain together till terms are arranged."

In his opinion that would be the only means of a solution; it would have to be done within the trade. No Government could lay down terms of settlement, and ultimately the settlement (not a patched-up settlement, but one which would last for years to come) must come by the two sides coming together and arranging terms on which both could agree.

FIGHT WITH PIRATES.

AN INCIDENT ON THE EAST RIVER.

TUG ATTACKED.

The steam tug Nang Yuen was attacked by pirates, on the East River, last Saturday. The boat, which plies between Waichow and Sheklung, was towing two junks loaded with cargo and passengers to Sheklung, when a party of pirates numbering about 400 appeared on the bank. Half the number kept the tug under fire, and the others swarmed into small skiffs and attempted to board the tug and junks.

A RUNNING FIGHT.

Fortunately, a detachment of Whampoa sailors under the command of a naval officer were distributed amongst the three ships, and these at once replied vigorously to the pirates' fire. At the same time, the officer in charge ordered the chief engineer of the tug to get up as much steam as possible in order to increase the speed of the tow, sending two of his sailors down to assist in the stokehold.

A running fight then took place between the sailors and the pirates, the former having the advantage since they were protected by the iron plates of the tug. Several pirates on the bank and in the skiffs were wounded or killed. The fight lasted for an hour, and the pirates gave up the chase only when they were two miles from Sheklung.

A German merchant, of Canton, Mr. Andreas Richthofen, was on board the tug.

A COOLIE'S PROTEST.

NOT PAID THE LEGAL FARE.

Before Major C. Willson at the Central Magistracy yesterday, Mr. S. M. da Cruz, of St. Joseph's Villa, charged a ricksha coolie with disorderly conduct and abuse. Complainant stated in evidence that the coolie used filthy language when he paid him ten cents as fare from General Street to Wyndham Street.

Inspector Field remarked that the ricksha was engaged at 3 o'clock this morning and the proper fare should be 15 cents.

In imposing a fine of $5, or seven days' hard labour, his Worship considered that the defendant had no right to use bad language.

SIXTEEN MONTHS' OLD CRIME.

At the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, before Mr. J. H. B. Nhill, a Chinese was remanded for one week in connection with a murder alleged to have been committed in April 1925.

The police have not yet made full enquiries, but as far as can be remembered, the body of a Chinese, who had been murdered, was found lying in a nullah at Tsing Mun, Sha Tin, by some workmen, but no arrests were made at the time. The man now arrested and charged is suspected of being one of two men who are believed to have committed the murder.

FORCED TO SIGN PROMISSORY NOTE.

MISSORY NOTE.

MONEY-LENDER FINED.

GUILTY OF INTIMIDATION.

SEQUEL TO STRUGGLE IN MOTOR-CAR.

The case in which a Chinese fisherman of Shauiwan was forced to sign a promissory note for a debt of $100 in a motor-car, after being threatened by the lender of the money, who, he alleged, seized him by the throat and said he would kill him if he did not sign the note, was concluded at the Central Magistracy, before Mr. R. E. Lindsell, yesterday afternoon.

The opening of the case was reported yesterday. Chung Shing, the manager of the Tak Shing Garage, Hau Wo Street, Shauiwan, was charged with using violence to the complainant that he was not bound to do, namely, to make him sign a promissory note.

Together with this defendant, a fok, employed by him, was charged with disobeying police signals to stop his car on August 27th, the date on which the alleged incident occurred.

DEFENDANT'S STORY.

Giving evidence, the first defendant said that on February 20th last he loaned complainant a further $100 to that previously loaned and repaid (complainant the previous day said he did not borrow a third sum). Complainant promised to sign a promissory note for this sum, but went to sea without doing so. On June 21st at Shauiwan complainant promised to pay the principal and interest of this last loan by June 28th at the latest, but when he (defendant) went to look for him, he found complainant had again gone to sea. About August 22nd or 23rd witness went on board complainant's junk with his wife, named Kwok-Kau.

Defendant here explained that this was the name on the promissory note, which the name on the promissory note was defendant's name. Defendant said that when he had to get the money to complainant he had to get the money from his wife. The promissory note was dated February 22nd, complainant having promised to sign it at that time.

BECAME NERVOUS.

Referring to August 27th, when it will be remembered complainant entered defendant's car, witness said complainant refused to sign the promissory note in the car, and it was agreed between them that they should go to Shauiwan Police Station and see the Inspector about it. When they reached the tram terminus at Shauiwan they were unable to drive further as there was a red signal against them. The car was turned back, and witness intended taking complainant to Hay View Police Station. Near Sai Wan Ho market complainant became nervous and suddenly called out "Save life." He made as if to jump from the car, and witness seized hold of his jacket.

Defendant emphatically denied that he seized complainant by the throat, or that he threatened to kill him if he did not sign the note.

When he heard a police whistle blown, defendant said, he ordered the car to be turned back as he thought the police might want him, but did not know what for. When the car turned, complainant said he would sign the promissory note, and did so, because he did not want any trouble and did not want to go to the police station.

RIDICULOUS STORY.

Mr. Lindsell commented that it was perfectly ridiculous for defendant to say that the car was turned back when the police whistles were blown and he saw the police running, because according to his evidence he had no reason to think the police were after him. "If he was innocent he would not stop a car because the whistles were blown."

Mr. E. S. C. Brooks, who was for the defence, suggested that it was perfectly natural for anyone to stop his car if he heard a police whistle blown. He would know something was amiss and would think, even if innocent, that he was wanted. If he were driving a car he would do so.

Mr. Lindsell: Yes, possibly a European, but a Chinese, never.

CRIES MADE NO DIFFERENCE.

The second defendant, who was driving the car, said in evidence that he heard police whistle blown when the car had nearly reached the Taikeo Dock exit entrance. He turned the car back.

Asked by Mr. Lindsell why he did not stop at Sai Wan Ho when he heard complainant cry out "Save Life," defendant replied that he knew that complainant and his employer (first defendant) had agreed to go to Bay View Police Station, and therefore he kept on.

Mr. Lindsell: So if you were driving a car at night with two or three passengers in the back, and heard cries of "Save Life" you would still go on?

Defendant made no reply. Mr. Brooks submitted that the evidence on both sides was confusing. He submitted that to suggest that first defendant had planned to literally abduct him was impossible and improbable. It was not sufficient for his Worship to find, as at home, that "peaceful persuasion had been used," but his Worship had to find that "force and violence had been employed."

In the case of the second defendant, he submitted that the driver of the car did not disregard the police signals to stop.

CURTAIN THAT WAS TOO SMALL.

NANYANG BROS. GIFT TO CHINESE ACTOR.

SUMMARY COURT CASE.

When the famous Chinese actor, Ching Yim Chau, was with his troupe at the Taiping Theatre, West Point, in July, the Nanyang Tobacco Company presented him with an expensive silk curtain. When the curtain was received, it was found to be too small for use at the theatre. Thereupon the management returned it to the manufacturers. The curtain was lengthened, and the cost therefore increased. The management of the theatre refused to pay the additional price; the donors also refused.

A sequel was heard at the Summary Court yesterday, when before Mr. Justice Wood, the Ka Lun firm of silk merchants of 92, Jervois Street, claimed $134.88 from the management of the Taiping Theatre.

Mr. W. B. Hind represented plaintiffs and Mr. T. Nash was for the defendants.

Mr. Hind said the plaintiff firm were requested by the Nanyang Tobacco Company to make a silk curtain which was to be presented to a famous Chinese actor playing at the Taiping Theatre at the time. A white silk curtain was made, and delivered on July 8th. Two days later the plaintiffs received a telephone message from the Taiping Theatre requesting them to make certain additions to the curtain. These were made at the request of the proprietor of the theatre, and therefore he was being sued instead of the Nanyang Tobacco Company.

A witness for the plaintiffs said that the price charged the Tobacco Company was $187.50, and that was paid by them. The additions cost $134.88. When he went to the defendants they told him to go to the Nanyang Company for the money. The Company refused to pay.

Replying to Mr. Nash, witness agreed that he took the original order for the curtain, had measured the stage and knew the size required. The curtain was presented to the actor by the Nanyang Bros. He further stated that the total cost of the additions was $307.88, but the Nanyang Bros. had paid $70.

His Lordship held that defendants had not ordered the curtain, and gave judgment for them with costs.

COST OF A SIGNBOARD.

CAFE RESTAURANT PARISIEN SUED.

Before Mr. Justice Wood at the Summary Court yesterday, Messrs. K. Corney and Co., Ltd., of 127, Des Voeux Road Central, claimed from the management of the Café Restaurant Parisien, Pedder Street, $285, being the price of a signboard made and put up at defendants' request.

Mr. L. R. Andrewes was for the plaintiffs. Defendants were absent.

The assistant-manager of the plaintiff firm said that he had asked for the money on three occasions, but payment was refused. The defendants said that the engraving was badly done, and gave that as their reason for refusing to pay.

Mr. Andrewes said that a cheque for $100 had been received from the defendants on Tuesday.

Judgment for the full amount with costs was given plaintiffs.

"ROCCO."

A CHARGE OF DISORDERLY CONDUCT.

COMPENSATION TO BE PAID.

The comedian, "Rocco," was charged before Mr. J. H. B. Nhill, at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, with damaging one marble table top, a crystal stand and a sugar basin, valued at $34, the property of the Heung Yuen Restaurant, Canton Road.

The defendant pleaded that the articles were broken accidentally, and he was willing to recompense the complainant, but until he could obtain employment, he was not in a position to do so.

Inspector Ogg said that the defendant came to the Colony with a circus some years ago and has been knocking about here ever since.

His Worship intimated that it had to be proved that there was some malicious intent, but there being no such intention in this case he would amend the charge to one of being drunk and disorderly.

A fine of $10, or ten days' hard labour, was imposed. The defendant was further ordered to pay the complainant $20 compensation or go to prison for a further two weeks.

DID INTIMIDATE.

Mr. Lindsell: I am satisfied that the first defendant did intimidate the complainant into signing this promissory note. The complainant's story, I find, is substantially correct. As regards the second defendant, I do not think it is fair to punish him as he was evidently acting under the instructions of the first defendant, his employer.

I therefore, discharge the second defendant, but I fine the first defendant $150. I have fined him $50 extra to what I should otherwise have done, because I am satisfied that he was responsible for running away from the police. He cannot take the law into his own hands.

EVIDENCE OF GENERAL DISORDER.TROUBLE IN MANY PARTS OF KWANGTUNG.SO-CALLED "ANTI-RED"
ACTIVITIES.ALLEGED PLOTTING ON FRENCH TERRITORY.

[FROM OUR CHINESE CORRESPONDENT.]

So-called "anti-Red" activities, in one form or another, are still being reported from many districts in Kwangtung. As I have said before, however, many of these disturbances are doubtless due to the general state of disorder and have little or no political significance.

As already reported a Kuomintang magistrate has been taken prisoner at Sunfung. Trouble has arisen at Woping, Lianping, Lulung and Hoyun, and it is stated that Kaukong, a town on the West River, is in danger of being invaded by "anti-Reds."

An uprising of "anti-Reds" in Kwong Nam, a district bordering Kwangsi and Yunnan, has been reported and martial law has been declared at Nanning, the capital of Kwangsi. The district of Pochi is also being invaded by Yunnanese "anti-Reds" who are making Nanning and Kweilin their goals.

The Headquarters of the Kuomintang in Canton are sending 200,000 rounds of ammunition to Kwangsi.

Mr. Wei Yuk, a departmental chief of the Kuomintang Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Canton, is proceeding to Kwangchow-wan on official business. It is said that he is going there to consult the French authorities of the port about ousting certain "anti-Red" organizations alleged to be plotting against the Canton Kuomintang from that direction.

Portuguese Gun-boats.

According to complaints of Strike Committee pickets at Chinsan, near Macao, Portuguese gunboats on August 22nd and 24th interfered with the activities of the pickets and arrested six of them.

Pirates Capture Ferry.

Pirates on August 27th captured the ferry plying between the Canton-Samshui Railway Wharf at Hohow and the opposite bank, killed one railway guard and wounded another, and took more than a hundred passengers as captives for ransom. The ferry was afterward released by the pirates.

It was announced that beginning on August 28th, passenger and freight tariffs on vessels plying in Canton waters would be increased by 20 per cent. The additional charges are to go to the Canton Preventive Bureau to help cover the expenses of the Water Police.

A New Volunteer Corps.

According to a Kuomintang journal, the Workers' Delegate Conference is to organize a volunteer corps to supplement the regular Kuomintang Army; and the Conference is asking each of its 175 labour unions to select ten men at least as members of the corps. The school for the training of this corps has been opened, and a course of three months' instruction has been mapped out for the volunteers.

General Chiang Kai Shek, the Commander-in-Chief of the Kuomintang Army, has, by proclamation, made the banknotes of the Kuomintang Central Bank in Canton legal tender in the provinces of Kwangsi, Kiangsi, and Hunan. Those persons refusing to negotiate the paper money will be punished.

EXPORTING MONEY.

OLD REGULATIONS RE-INSTATED.

From yesterday the emergency regulation concerning carrying money out of the Colony ceased to take effect.

When the strike began an embargo was placed on persons taking with them more than $5 in coin or notes, on leaving Hongkong. This regulation is now deemed unnecessary.

Long before the strike began, there were orders in force which remain to-day.

One is not allowed to take more than $50 of the Colony's coinage away, and not more than one Hongkong (or Mexican) silver dollar.

Of copper cash one can bring any amount to a Chinese destination. For other places, a permit is required from the Superintendent of Imports and Exports.

STRIKERS' ORGANISA-TION IN CANTON.THE SUB-COMMITTEE ENFORC-ING THE BOYCOTT.

A SMALL ARMY IN ITSELF.

INVESTIGATION ORDERED BY THE KUOMINTANG.

[BY OUR CHINESE CORRESPONDENT.]

The Kuomintang are appointing a special commission to investigate the present organisation of the Strike Committee. It is said that the object of the Commission is to promote economy and efficiency through a process of re-organisation, but no one seems to know what exactly this means. There seems little reason to make the Strike Committee more "efficient" for carrying on the boycott.

The body known as the Strike Committee comprises some 3,150 persons including pickets. It includes representatives from all labour unions participating in the strike, but naturally the Canton representatives are the controlling influence in the organisation.

Five Sub-Committees.

The Strike Committee's business is done through five sub-committees—finance, pickets, judgments, prizes and appraising.

When the pickets have arrested persons or seized goods, the prisoners are taken before the sub-committee for "judgment" while the goods go to the Prizes Committee to be sold. No goods, however, can be sold until an upset price has been fixed by the Appraising Committee. There is a depot for the sale of confiscated goods.

Apart from these sub-committees, the General Committee is divided into six sections for various forms of activity—preventing traffic with the "enemy," entertaining strikers, looking after correspondence, social gatherings, investigations and propaganda.

The Pickets.

Of the five sub-committees the "pickets" sub-committee is the one which has been most carefully organised. It is a small army in itself with all details and departments complete. The members are fully armed with weapons approved by the Kuomintang and they are permitted by the same authority to arrest and search persons in conjunction with the Police and to seize goods suspected of having come from boycotted territory or of being of British origin.

The sub-committee has a department of military affairs which commands five divisions of pickets, five divisions of reserve pickets, an inspection or supervising division, a court-martial, a secretariat, a commissariat, a shipping or water-picketing department, a transportation department, a school for training pickets and a secret service department.

The Chairman.

Mr. Wong Kum Yuan, formerly a butcher in Hongkong, is now chairman of the sub-committee on pickets.

Mr. Chui Kung Hap, formerly a barber in Hongkong, was until a few weeks ago chairman of the sub-committee on judgments but he was dismissed on a charge of receiving bribes.

The Canton Strike Committee is asking permission from the Kuomintang to arm 4,000 more pickets.

FAMILY SQUABBLE.

A QUARREL OVER A WOMAN.

INDIANS AND MALAYS.

The story of a domestic tangle between Malays was related before Major C. Willson, at the Central Magistracy yesterday, when Hashim, unemployed, and Usuf, a chauffeur, were charged with assaulting one Abdul Hamed at Wanchai on Saturday night.

Another man named Yashim, who should have been the chief defendant, was absent, as he had left on the s.s. Tunda where he was employed as a deck hand. This man married the complainant's step-sister ten years ago, but deserted her two years later. The woman lived in a boarding house. A feeling of jealousy was stated to have sprung up between the errant husband and the complainant, which was the motive for the assault.

Mr. J. A. Gordon Lenak, who appeared for the complainant, gave these facts and pressed the case against the first defendant, who, being without work, was a frequent visitor at the boarding house.

His Worship fined the first defendant $25 and ordered the payment of $10 to the complainant as compensation. In addition he was bound over to keep the peace. The second defendant was also bound over for future good behaviour.

SWATOW SITUATION.

THE CUSTOMS AND THE PICKETS.

COMMISSIONER WINS.

CANTON GOVERNMENT ON THE SIDE OF ORDER.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

Swatow, August 30th.

The Commissioner won, "hands down," and the pickets were thoroughly routed. The threat to close the Port was effective and during the week-end the Strike Committee acknowledged their guilt.

The Commissioner insisted that the 72 packages of B.A.T. cigarettes should be returned and stowed in the ship exactly as they were before the seizure. This afternoon I had the pleasure of seeing the cargo being carried along the Bund and loaded into lighters and taken off to the steamer. But there was not a picket nor a striker to be seen—"have lost too much face," I think.

Political Affairs.

There is increasing nervousness amongst the few remaining officials concerning the operations of enemy forces on the Fukien border. The local "Red" army is said to have been defeated round Hing Ning and Kiayingchow, in the Hakkā country, and to have fallen back on Ung Kung and Chaochowfu. Many well-informed Chinese are prophesying the capture of Swatow by the Northern forces within two weeks. Foreigners are sceptical having had previous experience of these so-called anti-Red rabble.

A persistent rumour is going round amongst Chinese that Ho Eng Khim, the Military Governor of this district, and his younger brother, the Chief of Police, left for Shanghai a few days ago. There is no definite confirmation of the report but it is not unlikely because General Ho Eng Khim has long been suspected of anti-Red leanings.

August 31st.

Mr. Sim Kye Lim.

It is reported this morning that the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs in Canton has cabled to the Bureau of Foreign Affairs here ordering them to instruct the Strike Committee to release Mr. Kye Lim immediately. Whether they will release him is doubtful, but if they do not there seems little reason why H.M. Government should not take drastic action to effect his release. There is nobody in charge here at the moment except the Strike Committee.

CONSULAR BODY AT AMOY.

ADMINISTERING MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

ORDER FROM PEKING LEGATIONS.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

Amoy, August 30th.

In accordance with an order received from the Diplomatic Corps at Peking, municipal affairs in Kulangsu are now being administered by the Consular Body. This change was brought about by the resignation of the Chairman and Councilors, who were discouraged by the lack of support from both the ratepayers and the Consular Body.

It is hard to predict how long this new regime will last, but one may safely say that there will be some dissatisfaction shown at the next annual meeting by a few ratepayers who are advocating the abolition of extra-territoriality. One of them has even gone as far as to voice his opinion through the medium of the Press that the best thing that could happen to Kulangsu, is to hand it over to China. Luckily for our peace of mind such men are in the minority and their influence is not great.

Cholera.

Two fatal cases were reported in Kulangsu, and the Council are taking every preventive measure to spread the growth of the disease.

In Amoy City the death toll averaged about 20, not taking into consideration the number of hidden cases. The Chinese Authorities do not seem to be doing much to fight against this epidemic.

WEATHER REPORT.

Last night's weather report, forecast and remarks, issued from the Royal Observatory at 5 o'clock, stated:—

There are indications of a depression S.E. of Naha. A shallow depression covers Indo-China and a feeble anticyclone east and N.E. China.

Local forecast:—S.E. winds, moderate, overcast showery, probably improving later.

AMAZING SCENE ON
FRENCH LINER.POLICE AND REVENUE OFFICERS
DEFIED BY CREW.SEQUEL TO ARRESTS OF FRENCH-MEN FOR POSSESSION
OF ARMS.$500,000 HAUL OF HEROIN:
JAPANESE TO BE CHARGED.

The two members of the crew of the Messageries Maritimes s.s. Angers, who were arrested yesterday morning on this steamer by the police, following the discovery of arms and ammunition, were each fined $200 for possession of arms and ammunition when they appeared before Mr. J. H. B. Nihill at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday afternoon.

An order for the confiscation of the arms and ammunition was made by the Magistrate.

The arrests of these men on board the Angers led to an unpleasant and unusual scene taking place. Defiance was shown by members of the crew of the liner to a party of Police and some Revenue Officers, who were on board in the course of their duty carrying out a search for arms, ammunition and illicit drugs, and serious consequences were only averted by the extreme patience and coolness shown by the local authorities, who held out until reinforcements arrived and order was restored.

The amazing story is shown by the following details gathered. It appears that following the arrival of the Angers from Marseilles and Saigon, a party of officers of the Imports and Exports Department left for the vessel in charge of Chief Preventive Officer S. J. Clarke and Senior Revenue Officer G. Watt. There were also four European officers in the party, including R.O.'s Ward and Beattie. While this party was searching for contraband drugs, a small party from the Water Police under Detective Sub-Inspector K. Andrews, with two European Sergeants were carrying out a routine search for arms.

ACTION OF CREW.

About eight o'clock the police, having discovered arms and ammunition, were in the act of leaving the Angers together with two members of the crew, whom they had arrested on a charge of possession of the contraband. At the same instant about fifty French members of the crew of the liner, assuming an ugly and threatening attitude, pulled up the gangway, despite the captain's orders forbidding it to be drawn up. The gangway was kept up for a matter of three hours, and it was not until about eleven o'clock that it was lowered.

In the interval between the raising and lowering of the gangway, Mr. C. G. Perdue, Assistant Director of Criminal Intelligence, arrived on board the Angers, as did also reinforcements of police, who arrived in the remainder of the Water Police launches.

ATMOSPHERE CLEARED.

The French Consul, to whom a report had been made, also arrived on the scene, and upon his appearance the misunderstanding which had led to the attitude adopted by the members of the crew was made clear. It appears that the ship had, some time ago, been involved in similar trouble at Shanghai where, acting in accordance with the extraterritorial rights applicable there, the French authorities had taken the matter in hand and arrested the members of the crew in question.

The crew were under the impression that such extraterritorial laws applied equally to Hongkong as to Shanghai, not being aware that in a British port matters appertaining to law and order are the province of the British authorities. In view of the fact that a French gunboat was in harbour the crew believed that they were within their rights in demanding that any action taken in respect of the members of the crew found with arms in their possession should be by the French authorities. As soon as the position was explained to them by the Consul the arrest of the two men was effected without further trouble, and they were taken from the ship by the police officials.

The two prisoners were taken to Yau-mat, and, as stated above, they were charged at the Kowloon Magistracy in the afternoon and convicted.

It was decided not to proceed further with anything in the nature of obstructing the police or attempting to evade arrests, etc.

A RECORD HAUL!

Apart from the result of the police search, the Revenue Officers secured a haul of roughly 8,000 ounces of heroin. This was concealed in seven large luggage cases (trunks and satchels) found in the baggage room of the Angers, and it is estimated that it is worth about $600,000. This is only a rough estimate, as the authorities had not fully investigated the haul last evening.

In consequence of this seizure, a Japanese passenger was arrested. He is believed to have boarded the ship at Marseilles. At the time of the seizure the keys of the packages could not be found.

The seizure seems to be a record one, and the Japanese arrested is to appear at the Central Magistracy this morning to answer a charge in connection with the haul, which it is thought was to be smuggled through to Japan if possible. A commitment to the Sessions will probably be asked for.

HONGKONG, SEPTEMBER 2ND, 1926.

THE SATURATION POINT.

"PLANT ACORNS" was the slogan of certain patriotic people in England about a hundred years ago. (They did not, of course, use the word "slogan" in connection with publicity campaigns in those days.) The evangelists of that era tried to save the people of Great Britain from what they sincerely thought was a great peril. They devoted themselves to their task of rousing the conscience of the country with the enthusiasm equal to that of any ancient or modern crusader. "Plant acorn," they cried, because it was suddenly realised that the oak trees which had furnished timber for "wooden walls of England" were rapidly diminishing in number. Oak trees were regarded as essential for the proper maintenance of the Royal Navy, and the obvious thing to do, therefore, was to plant acorns which would ensure a good supply of oak timber for the ships. Before the acorns grew into trees, however, wood had been discarded as a material for building warships. Sails and timber have been replaced by machinery and metals. The alarmists who sincerely believed that the future security of Great Britain depended upon oak trees had been entirely ignorant of the development of mechanical inventions, although the steam engine had, at that time, been used for marine work.

An American author, one GARRT GARETT, who has written a novel or two, has created something of a "sensation" in his own country and has aroused some interest in Great Britain, by means of a book called "Ouroboros." The curious word is the name of a serpent which swallows its own tail. The novelist has turned his attention to economics. A study of that very involved subject has had a most depressing upon his mind. He is a modern Jeremiah, who foretells disaster for the human race, and especially for Great Britain. He is convinced that machines and industrial processes have involved man in a tragic circle. In his opinion, it is the necessity to sell that is the cause of all the chaos and trouble in the world to-day. "How to produce enough is no longer any problem at all. How to sell what is produced—that is the problem." The mass production factory must create consumers. Why not? It is quite true that the civilised nations are beginning to realise that it is pleasanter to make things by machines and to sell them for foodstuffs instead of ploughing the land and garnering by the sweat of their brow, the fruits of the earth. The mechanical tractor is much more effective in agricultural work than the human muscles.

It is quite true that the number of nations who now have to depend upon others for the supply of their essential requirements is strictly limited and is decreasing each decade. Our flesh is made to creep by the story of the progress of Italy, the most fecund of the white peoples, already providing for her own wants and seeking an outlet for her half-million yearly increase in population. (We are told that Japan is underselling Great Britain in the Orient. We are not told that the trade between Great Britain and Japan is considerable, as for China—ah! China is beginning to provide for herself. We are thus led to the inevitable conclusion that soon there will be a glut of manufactured goods and no one to sell them to.) A gloomy outlook.

Most of us, in this part of the world, at present, have sufficient anxieties about the immediate future to satisfy us. We refuse to worry much about what will happen in some indefinite time ahead. We, of this generation, have had our fair share of crises, but we have managed to pull through. We have seen great changes and we are prepared to see others. Human nature being what it is, we may be quite sure that the average man or woman of this and the next generation will be true to type, and like Oliver Twist, will "want more." The world will never have enough of what it wants. Even if every family on the earth has its wireless set and its motor car, they will all want better "radios," nicer cars, improved fittings for their dwellings and a greater variety of clothing. Mass-production should not lead to the ruin of Great Britain, but to an era of greater prosperity. So complex is our present civilisation that we cannot exist without machines. Academic arguments as to whether life is easier or more difficult to live than it was a hundred years ago are of interest to many people, but they do not affect the problems of the present. This is an age of machinery and it makes great demands both of intelligence and will-power. The machine is the servant of man who, after all, is its creator. Some of the American journals are becoming alarmed at the enormous output of the U.S.A. automobile factories. Ten years ago it was thought that there would soon be a car for every family and it was argued that that surely would be the saturation point. Now each family has "a whole gasoline alley." No one stays at home. Father has his limousine; Mother, her coupe; Sister, her brougham; Brother, his sports model; and Junior, his "divver." When Father has made his "pile" looks longingly to Europe for peace and quietness and, in some cases, purchase a country place in England!

The fact of the matter is there is no saturation point for human desires. Salesmen, manufacturers and inventors will go on taking risks in the endeavour to make what they consider is a fair living. Philosophers and novelists may cry out about materialism, but the greatest American philosopher, EMERSON, said truly "Men are seldom so innocent as they are when engaged in making money." The Bolshevik ideas about scrapping machines and discouraging intellectual effort will never be accepted by the Anglo-Saxon race. Rather than race will meet fearlessly the new problems of each era, satisfied that human ingenuity and a decent moral code will enable them to overcome all the difficulties of the future as their forefathers overcame those of the past.

The Water Police seized 100 tons, each containing five tals of prepared opium, during a raid carried out on the Empress of Canada on Monday. The drug was concealed in a passenger trunk of American make, and was valued at about $10 a tal, or a total of $5,000. It is thought that the drug was destined for Manila, where it would have been worth about $10,000, but no claimant was forthcoming and the opium was confiscated.

THE DENISHAWN DANCERS.

STRIKING SUCCESS AT THE QUEEN'S THEATRE.

ARTISTRY, RHYTHM AND COLOUR.

The Denishawn Dancers scored a striking success on their first appearance at the Queen's Theatre last night. There was a good attendance.

All the items, without exception, were remarkably well performed, and seldom has a Hongkong audience been so enthusiastic in its reception of a Company as it was last night.

Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn were the outstanding artists in the performance. Shawn was undoubtedly at his best in Adagio Pathétique. The scene was that of a statue of a Grecian God awakening to life. It was all intensely vivid, and Shawn proved himself to be a real artist.

Ruth St. Denis is a remarkable dancer. Added to the rhythm of her movements, the slenderness of her figure, the suppleness of her arms and fingers, she has a marvellous facial expression. She was at her best in Oriental Dances, and particularly so in a Japanese Flower Arrangement (Musical Bowers). She was in gesture, in movement, in everything a maid of old Japan. In "A Legend of Fele," Hawaiian Volcano Goddess, swaying a silken mantle of kaleidoscopic colour, enhanced and transformed into sheets of flame by special lighting effects she gave a real, vivid, and inspiring exhibition.

Voices of Spring," from Botticelli's painting "Primavera" played by other members of the troupe, was in reality the essence of Spring. It was a beautiful scene of colour, rhythm and laughter, was brought out in "A Spanish Gypsy Dance" scene. More remarkable still in point of rhythm and beauty was "Garland Plastik."

The technique of the dancers was faultless, and from the beginning to end their success was convincing. The programme concluded with Ishtar of the Seven Gates—a scene of splendour, mysticism, and romance.

The Company appear again to-night, to-morrow night and Saturday at the Queen's, and a new programme will be presented each time. On Saturday a special Chinese ballet will be staged.

THE BRUNSWICK PANATROPE.

GRAMOPHONE PLUS WIRELESS.

A MACHINE WITH GREAT POSSIBILITIES.

A gramophone which can be metamorphosed into a wireless set in a perfectly simple way, is the latest addition which scientific invention has given the musical world. It is known as the Brunswick Panatrope, and one is at present at the Brunswick studio, Ice House Street.

The machine is fitted with electrical apparatus, valves and an amplifier, and is more like a wireless set than a gramophone. It is so constructed that, without stopping the machine, volume of sound can be regulated as desired.

A representative of the Daily Press heard the Panatrope yesterday and was impressed by its wonderful possibilities. Placed in the minor key the vocal items were such as one hears on a gramophone, excepting that the tone was certainly more distinct than is the case with the ordinary machine. Then the volume of sound was gradually increased, and, at full power, it was manifest that the machine would have a convincing effect in a large hall.

The model now in Hongkong has five valves. The Company hope to get others of greater or less volume according to the requirements of purchasers.

The general public will shortly be invited to a public demonstration.

JUNK PIRACY.

MASTER CHAINED TO A TREE FOR THREE WEEKS.

An interesting story is expected to be related, at the Kowloon Magistracy this afternoon, when the hearing is resumed of a case in which three alleged robbers are charged in connection with the piracy of a cargo junk.

The master of this junk, who made his escape from the hands of a robber gang has already related a story of terrible cruelty to the police, in which he alleges that he was chained by robbers to a tree for three weeks and was given very little food.

In his report to the police, when he arrived in the Colony, prior to the case coming before the Court, the master stated that his junk left Yau-nan for Un-Lung with cargo, but while anchored off Lam O, Cape Sui Mun, on the night of July 21st about 8 o'clock, owing to bad weather, an armed robber gang got aboard and took the junk to Tung Ku where some members of the crew landed. However, the master and steersman were not landed, but were taken into Chinese territory. The master was taken to a

HIS EXCELLENCY'S BIRTHDAY.

ENTERTAINMENT BY THE NEW TERRITORY ELDERS AT TAIPO.

At Tai Po Market, yesterday afternoon, there took place an event which is unprecedented, if not in the history of the Colony, in the twenty-seven years during which the New Territory has been under British control. The occasion was that of the birthday of His Excellency, the Governor, in celebration of which the Elders of the New Territory gave an entertainment, at which His Excellency was pleased to be present.

As most of our readers are aware, as a junior cadet Mr. Cecil Clementi was one of the first Assistant Land Officers to be appointed to deal with the difficult task of settling the organisation and administration of the newly transferred lands. To-day the Territory is a prosperous stretch of country, widely opened up by roads and motor transport, and peopled by a friendly and industrious population of farmers. In those days the populace was hostile, and bitterly suspicious of the new Government. The situation was one which has occurred hundreds of times before in the history of the British Empire, and to the task Mr. Clementi brought a sound knowledge of the language and an intuitive understanding of the mentality of the people with whom he had to deal. The conditions which have obtained in the New Territories for the past twenty years show how well he and his colleagues performed the administrative part of their duties. The impression he left upon the minds of the people is shown by the fact that upon his return here as our Governor, his old friends gathered together and entertained him upon his birthday. In these days when vilification of the British Government is so fashionable, this spontaneous tribute is particularly pleasing.

The weather was particularly unpropitious in the morning but after a final storm about 2 p.m. it took a turn for the better. A spacious mat had been erected on the triangular space in the middle of Tai Po Market, and there the Elders with Mr. Fraser, the District Officer, received the guests as they arrived. At three p.m. His Excellency, accompanied by Lady Clementi, arrived by car. Captain Steele, A.D.C., and Mr. B. R. Forster, Private Secretary, were in attendance. The other guests present were the Hon. Mr. W. T. and Mrs. Southern, Mr. Justice Wood, the Hon. Mr. McL. Messer, the Hon. Mr. J. H. Kemp, the Hon. Mr. H. T. and Mrs. Creamy, the Hon. Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Trantman, Messrs. N. L. Smith, A. D. Ball, W. Schofield, E. W. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. H. Green, Mr. J. Fraser and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Gerrard.

Owing to the pressure of official business, many other Government officials were unfortunately unable to attend.

H.E. THE GOVERNOR'S ARRIVAL.

His Excellency's arrival was greeted with an outburst of crackers, and after shaking hands with his hosts he took his seat. His hosts then bowed formally to him, a salutation which was returned by His Excellency. After a song, excellently rendered by a choir of schoolboys, the dinner began. Just under a hundred sat down to a most excellent repast.

During the dinner, after a short speech by the Chairman, Mr. Lei Chun Chong, an address was read by Mr. Tang Wai Tong, wherein reference was made to His Excellency's connection with the Territory in the past, and congratulations on the occasion of his birthday were offered.

His Excellency then replied, speaking in Cantonese, thanking his hosts and assuring them of his interest in the New Territory and all his concerns.

After the dinner, during which the usual Chinese music was played, the company broke up about 6.30 p.m. after a photograph had been taken.

The arrangements for the entertainment reflect great credit upon those who were responsible for them. The mat had been laid and cool, in spite of the torrential downpour, not a drop of water found its way in. The floor was covered with a green carpet of pine-needles which had a most pleasing effect. The dinner served was the equal of any of those provided in the fashionable restaurants in West Point, while we were particularly struck by the excellence of the No. 1 Tsan wine. It was, in short, an afternoon which will not soon fade from the memories of those who were privileged to attend.

place he did not know, according to his story, and chained to a tree for three weeks. He had no shelter from sun or rain, and was fed twice daily. He finally managed to sever his chains and returned to Hongkong last Friday. No news of the steersman has been heard of since his capture.

Three of the alleged robbers were subsequently arrested at Sham Shui Po and were recognised and subsequently appeared before Mr. J. H. B. Nihil at the Kowloon Magistracy, who remanded them until this afternoon.

FIGHTING IN CENTRAL CHINA.

BIG FIGHT IMMINENT NEAR WUCHANG.

TRENCHES BEING DUG IN THE SUBURBS.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

HANKOW, August 29th.

The Allies are still holding the Taiching-Chow line.

Wu Pei Fu has established his headquarters at Ho-Sheng-Chiao, whence he is personally directing the operations.

Meantime Allied reinforcements are constantly arriving from the North.

THE STRUGGLE FOR WUCHANG.

SHANGHAI, September 1st.

According to Japanese reports from Hankow the Wu Pei Fuites are demoralized and have suffered several reverses. The Southerners are advancing rapidly against Wuchang, which is across the river from Hankow. The reports add that the Wu Pei Fuites are preparing to check the "Red" advance at Chih-fang-shih, twelve miles from Wuchang and are also constructing trenches at the suburbs of Wuchang.

The Northern reinforcements continue to arrive in large numbers at Hankow. Refugees from Wuchang and the surrounding districts are pouring in to the Hankow Concessions.

Sun Chuan-fang, so far, has sent merely a handful of troops to assist Wu Pei Fu, and it is believed that Sun intends to maintain armed neutrality unless his five provinces are invaded; but he is enrolling recruits and taking all precautions.

STRUGGLE MORE EVIDENT.

PEKING, September 1st.

Optimistic communiqués from Hankow continue to arrive, claiming the recovery of Puchi and the advance of the Northerners towards the Hupoh-Hunan border.

Independent reports do not confirm Northern successes, but none of the reports mention any further advance of the Southerners.

There seems no doubt that heavy fighting is proceeding and that Wu Pei Fu is receiving large reinforcements from the North.

SWATOW'S PORT.

NOT NOW TO BE CLOSED.

SWATOW, August 31st.

It is today transpired that the threat of the Commissioner of Customs to close the port of Swatow was not carried into effect, the pickets acceding to his demands under pressure from General Ho Ying Yum, who has charge of the district.

The incident, it now appears materialized from the seizure by pickets of a shipment of 70 cases of cigarettes, consigned to Swatow by the B.A.T. The Commissioner protested and intimated that he would take action if the shipment was not restored.

General Ho ordered the pickets to comply with the request and the matter was settled without further incident.

The s.s. Huihong arrived from Swatow today and her officers report that the coast port business is normal.

SHANGHAI'S LABOUR TROUBLE.

ANOTHER MILL FOREMAN MURDERED.

WHAT THE STRIKE PICKETS' COMMITTEE AUTHORISE.

SERIOUS STATE OF AFFAIRS.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

SHANGHAI, September 1st.

This morning a Chinese foreman, employed at the Ewo Cotton Mills, was waylaid at wayside Road in the eastern district of the city by a gang of armed men, who mortally injured him with six bullets. The foreman, before his death, was unable to make a statement identifying the assailants, who, so far, have not been arrested.

Meantime, a meeting of the Strike Pickets' Committee has authorised the pickets to resort to the use of axes, iron bars and arms in the case of a clash with mill operatives desiring to go to work or with the police, promising compensation in the event of injury or of the death of pickets.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

SCHEME TO PLACATE SPAIN.

ANGLO-FRENCH VIEWS.

London, August 31st.

Sir Austen Chamberlain has departed for Geneva to attend the meeting of the Council of the League of Nations on September 2nd and the Assembly meeting on September 6th.

GENEVA, August 31st.

The League Committee appointed to consider the future composition of the Council, longly discussed yesterday a French amendment to Article 2 of the scheme approved last May as regards the re-election of non-permanent members of the Council. The amendment was mainly designed to placate Spain.

Viscount Cecil said Britain was satisfied with the May scheme, but would agree to any workable plan. Therefore he favoured the French amendment, which assured the re-eligibility of non-permanent members, but as the wording could be variously interpreted he proposed that the amendment be referred to the Drafting Committee.

The proposal was adopted.

The French amendment provides that a retiring member would only be re-eligible by a two-thirds majority of either the Council or the Assembly, and that in any case the number of members elected shall not exceed one-third of the total non-permanent members.

The French amendment is apparently the result of recent pourparlers between Britain, France and Germany, and the Drafting Committee today found the task of finding a formula to satisfy all parties difficult.

TEMPORARY SCHEME.

The Drafting Sub-Committee, after a protracted discussion of the French amendment and Viscount Cecil's scheme for the re-eligibility of non-permanent members, agreed to a temporary arrangement whereby non-permanent members will be exceptionally admitted to the Council of the League at the forthcoming election, but that in subsequent elections re-eligibility will only be applicable at the expiration of the member's term of office and not at the beginning of his tenure.

In other respects, Viscount Cecil's scheme will hold good with slight modifications.

GERMANY TO BE ADMITTED.

GENEVA, September 1st.

The outcome of yesterday's discussions is that Germany alone will be admitted to a permanent seat on the Council, with nine non-permanent members.

It is noteworthy that Poland waived her claim simultaneous with her election with Germany. Spain's attitude up to the present has not changed.

At present there is no prospect of Tangier being discussed at Geneva.

ANGLO-FRENCH VIEWS.

PARIS, September 1st.

According to Le Petit Parisien, M. Briand, the French Secretary for Foreign Affairs, and Sir Austen Chamberlain, at their meeting last night realized the similarity of their dispositions with regard to the French and British Cabinets' ancient Tangier and seats on the Council of the League of Nations.

Both statesmen decided to co-operate closely and not to admit the work of the League to be affected and the question of Tangier discussed by other Powers than those interested.

COAL STOPPAGE.

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS DEBATE.

MR. CHURCHILL'S APPEAL.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

RUGBY, August 31st.

The Miners' Executive to-day decided by a narrow majority not to formulate any peace proposals for the consideration of the Delegates' Conference, but to leave the question for that body to consider free from any recommendations or suggestions by their Executive.

Whether the Delegates will agree to a modification of policy is doubtful. Mr. Herbert Smith, the Miners' President, is credited with opposing any departure from the present policy, while Mr. A. J. Cook, the Miners' Secretary, has openly advocated the framing of fresh proposals to form a basis for renewed negotiations.

To-day's decision of the Executive is understood to have been taken in opposition to advice tendered by the Parliamentary Labour Party.

THE DEBATE.

When the dispute was debated in the House of Commons to-day, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, the Opposition Leader, urged that as the Miners' Delegates Conference was to meet on Thursday, Parliament should adjourn for a week only.

The Government resisted this motion. Mr. Churchill stating that even if some change of a beneficial character were pending, he considered it unlikely that the intervention of Parliament would be required. Parliament could be speedily summoned if the necessity arose.

After attacking the attitude of the Government, which he said had behaved throughout the dispute like a loyal sub-committee of the owners, Mr. MacDonald insisted on the necessity of a national agreement between the miners and owners if work was to be resumed in a spirit of good will, co-operation and hearty production. He believed that a basis for accommodation existed and that it was possible for the Government to get the two sides together in meeting with an open agenda from which nothing would be barred. Alternatively, the Government might get men of influence acceptable to both sides to mediate.

NOTABLE CONTRIBUTIONS.

Two notable contributions to the debate by private members were made by Mr. Spencer (Labour) and Mr. H. Wragg (Unionist). Mr. Spencer, in advocating a national agreement, pointed out that accommodation would have to be made for varying minima in the different districts. He wished the miners had accepted the Coal Commission's report when it was offered to them. The essential conditions of peace were the recognition of economic factors by the men and the recognition of the men's point of view by the owners.

Mr. Wragg, who spoke as chairman of a Colliery Company, expressed the opinion that the owners would be willing to have a national settlement with district variations. Failing a settlement, he advocated compulsory arbitration.

Mr. Lloyd George declared that the owners had gone back on their earlier proposals and were now insisting on district settlements. After charging the Government with impotence, he urged them to undertake the responsibility of making a definite suggestion on which the negotiations could be re-opened.

MR. CHURCHILL'S SPEECH.

Concluding the debate, Mr. Churchill said that the Government were determined to see that the Act recently passed as a means of obtaining re-organisation and reconstruction of the coal industry was put into force with the utmost vigour.

Regarding criticisms of the Eight Hours measure, the Government view was that, within certain limits, at any rate during a temporary period, the question of hours and wages would be so far interchangeable that the mining population concerned might have the right of deciding in what form the economic necessity should be met. The object in view was to secure the greatest amount of employment and the largest sum of money to be paid in wages throughout the coal industry under decent conditions. The Government wanted as few pits as possible to be closed, and said that closing down should be a gradual process unless new pits were developed to absorb unemployed miners could be moved. He could not himself see the slightest difficulty in reconciling the controversy regarding national or district settlements. There must be notice taken of local conditions, and there ought to be a national survey of the whole process afterwards—national settlement within whose ambit district conditions had been properly embodied. Hours and wages were no longer an insuperable obstacle and if the differences connected with them were reduced to their very moderate proportion then the question between national or district agreements should never be allowed to stand in the way of a settlement. Although there was a greater disposition to take the facts into account, nothing had yet been done which made it possible for the Government to promote fresh negotiations. He hoped the Miners' Delegates' Conference might produce something.

A REPUDIATION.

He strongly repudiated Mr. MacDonald's suggestion that the owners had exerted any influence on the Government, adding, "let the miners' leaders arm us with weapons of economic truths and we will see who presumes to stand in the way of a peaceful settlement." The Government could only build a bridge if the material was provided from both sides. A fresh offer was indispensable. The difficulty of the problem did not lie in the making of a plan but in securing agreement for it, and here the Government's powers were limited. They could legislate, but they could not compel the (Continued on next column.)

U.S.A. AND WAR DEBTS.

PRESS ON CANCELLATION PROPOSAL.

NEW YORK, August 31st.

The Republican papers deplore Mr. Newton Baker's debt cancellation suggestions cabled yesterday.

The New York Tribune says the suggestion is inopportune and will merely lead to misconception and confusion.

The New York Times, however, supporting Mr. Baker's article, cites Mr. Mellon as saying "a prosperous Europe would be worth far more in dollars to the United States than any possible return from debts."

The New York World opines that sooner or later Mr. Baker's argument will prevail. It adds that it would be rash to predict a mutual cancellation of debts, but a revision of the present agreement is certain in the near future.

PRESIDENT'S VIEW.

PAULSMITH, August 31st.

Although President Coolidge is reported not to have read Mr. Newton Baker's article in connection with his war debts question, the President's opinion is stated to favour no change in the United States' war debts policy.

President Coolidge does not anticipate that the Senate will reverse its decision regarding the World Court.

miners to work for the owners to keep the pitch open. If both sides were to say to the Government: "We will take your decision; give us the best advice you can for the reconstruction and settlement of the coal industry," it would, in his opinion, be an easy and rapid process to present a tolerable elastic and good-working solution at any rate for the temporary period through which the industry had to pass before it was reconstructed. There was, at present, nothing in the attitude of the parties calculated to make such an enterprise succeed. But the atmosphere would change and it was perhaps changing. He asked the miners to make fresh proposals in any form and through any channel they liked.

GOVERNMENT AND THE RISK.

The Government were ready to share the risk of seeing that such proposals received a fair chance if they were genuine and afforded, in the Government's view, a way to a settlement. It was no part of the spirit of this country or of the policy of the present Government, to win a strike at the expense of one section of the community over another. England was England because things were less frequently fought out to a bitter end than in any country in the world and because people did not press their rights to extremes as they did in many other countries. The Government would allow no party consideration or personal prejudices to influence their actions but they must not be asked to take sides against arithmetic or the obvious facts of the situation.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

HOPEFUL ATMOSPHERE.

LONDON, August 31st.

It is noteworthy that the Opposition listened attentively to Mr. Churchill and even cheered his references with relation to district and to national agreements and the hint that the miners could secure backing for a national agreement if they proved reasonable on the question of hours and wages.

The House of Commons adjourned until November 9th, unless it is convoked earlier to continue the Emergency Regulations.

SURREY OUTPLAY MIDDLESEX.

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

London, August 31st.
Playing at Lords against Middlesex, Surrey won easily by an innings and 83 runs. The scores were:—

Surrey, 579 for five wickets (dec.)
Middlesex, 273 and 241.
In Surrey's innings, Hobbs made the greatest score of his wonderful career, carrying his bat right through for 318, not out. D. R. Jardine contributed 103 and Shandham 88.

Middlesex was set a huge task, but Hendren with 101 (not out) and H. L. Dales 52 were the only batsmen to rise to the occasion. The home team had to follow on, and in this venture G. T. S. Stevens was top scorer with 63. Holmes took four wickets for 49 runs.

YORKSHIRE'S WIN.

Playing away at Cardiff, Yorkshire beat Glamorgan by 190 runs. The scores were:—

Yorkshire, 420 for six wickets (declared) and 154 for seven (declared).
Glamorgan, 308 and 78.

Leyland put up the big score of 191 in Yorkshire's first innings, whilst Robinson scored a valuable 124, not out. In Yorkshire's second innings, Roy Kilner scored 52.

Glamorgan made a very worthy first innings stand, thanks to Bates 69, Bell 50 and Walters 60. Robinson took five wickets for 58 runs. On going in a second time, Glamorgan faced a deficit of 293, but they were rallied out by Macaulay, who had the fine average of seven wickets for 32 runs.

THE NEW CHAMPIONS.

Playing at Manchester against Nottingham, the match being for the benefit of W. H. Howard, the veteran pavilion attendant at Old Trafford, Lancashire won by ten wickets and also won the County Championship. The scores were:—

Notts, 202 and 189.
Lancashire, 454 and 38 for no wickets.

In Notts' first innings, Whysall made 97 and A. W. Carr 67, Macdonald taking five wickets for 83 runs. Payton was the only scorer of note in the second venture, having 59 to his credit. Macdonald was again successful with the ball, taking six wickets for 80 runs.

There were two centuries made for Lancashire, Makepeace making 150 and Ernest Tyldesley 140.

KENT WIN EASILY.

Playing away at Northampton, Kent defeated Northamptonshire by 247 runs. The scores were:—

Kent, 233 and 386 for six wickets (declared).
Northants, 121 and 215.

In Kent's first innings, Hubble made 75, and it was in the second knock that Woolley rattled up his 217 in two hours and a half. Ashdown with 53 and Knott with 56 were his best partners.

When Northants were at the wicket, Freeman proved their undoing, he taking seven wickets for 49 runs in the first innings and five wickets for 82 in the second. W. Timms was the only batsman to withstand the onslaught, he making 78 runs.

SENSATIONAL BOWLING.

There was a sensational ending to the match at Bristol between Leicester and Gloucester. The home country gained a lead of 25 on the first innings, but were dismissed in the second innings for 74 runs. Parker and Mills, bowling unchanged, brought about a startling collapse of the Leicester side, Gloucester winning eventually by 54 runs. The scores were:—

Gloucester, 306 and 74.
Leicester, 271 and 53.

Dipper and L. P. Hedges made 77 and 81 respectively in the Gloucester first innings, while the principal scorer in the Leicester first innings was C. H. Taylor with 50.

Gloucester collapsed on batting a second time, Geary and Astill proving almost unplayable. Geary took 5 wickets for 33 runs, and Astill 4 for 23. Astill's four wickets enabled him to complete the double of scoring one thousand runs and taking one hundred wickets in a single season for the six successive seasons.

Leicester required 110 to win, but bowling unchanged Parker and Mills went through the side even more sensationally than Geary and Astill had done. Leicester were all out for 53, Parker taking four wickets for 29, and Mills taking 6 for 26.

In the course of the match, Parker completed his bag of 200 wickets for the season.

ESSEX v. HANTS.

Playing away at Portsmouth against Hampshire, Essex won on the first innings. The scores were:—

Essex, 498 for six wickets (declared) and 131 for seven (declared).
Hampshire, 384 and 143 for one wicket.

There was consistently good batting in Essex's first innings. Cutmore 53, Freeman 52, Nicholls 81, O'Connor 64, Russell 156 and J. W. H. T. Douglas 54 (not out) all helping to make up the big total. Russell was top scorer in the second venture, with 87 runs.

For Hampshire, the Hon. Lionel Tennyson made 111, Mead 30 and Kennedy 51 (not out). In the second innings, Day made 69 and Bruton 65 (not out).

SUSSEX FORCE A DRAW.

(Sussex v. Australians. Overnight scores: Australia, 316; W. Bardsley, 118. Sussex: 240, Bowley 60.)

BRIGHTON, August 31st.
Before a small crowd, in fine weather, and on a good wicket, the Australians declared to-day after scoring 153 for the loss of four wickets in an endeavour to

LATE MR. E. J. HAMMOND.

DUTCH NEWSPAPER'S TRIBUTE TO HIS EFFICIENCY.

The Nieuws van den Dag, in a lengthy article, pays tribute to the business qualities of the late Mr. Hammond, who died on August 14th in London, as well as his loyalty to the Dutch East Indian Government.

In making a comparison of the efficient administration of the Pamanookan and Tjassamland, otherwise known as the Anglo-Dutch Plantations, the paper says a very marked improvement has been made during the last ten years, and it is through Mr. Hammond's capabilities, first as head manager and later as managing director, that the estates of the Anglo-Dutch Plantations had been extended, improvements made in planting and factory methods, housing and living conditions amongst the coolies, and providing proper medical assistance for the employees of the estates.

Mr. Hammond's first relations with the Anglo-Dutch Plantations, Ltd., were through Messrs. Peek Bros. and Winch, of which firm he was a partner, and which changed its name to Messrs. Francis Peek & Co. in 1913.

Messrs. Peek Bros. and Winch opened a branch in Java in 1910, and from that time the firm acted as agents for the Anglo-Dutch Plantations, Ltd., up to the present day.

The D.E.I. Government, in appreciation of the services of Mr. Hammond, presented him with the Order of Oranje-Nassau.

force a victory. C. G. Macartney was the top scorer with 65.

SOMERSET'S EXCELLENT REPLY.

Warwick: 485 (for 7 wickets dec.) and 203 (for 5 wickets).
Somerset: 427.

C. A. Fiddian Green and Kilner (N.) made the first stand for the midland country, the former scoring 50, and the latter making 70. Parsons with 60 and Quails with 50, continued the good work, and the Warwick captain, the Hon. F. Calthorpe hit out for 103 not out.

Somerset made an excellent reply principally through the efforts of J. C. W. MacBryan, who rattled up 123, and H. Longridge, who was undefeated with 81 at the close.

SHIPPING NOTES.

A notice at the Harbour Office, received from the Customs Authorities at Tientsin, under date of August 21st, states that the conservancy ice-breaker Chingling has reported that the Japanese steamer Kawamura Maru lies sunk, with decks awash and masts standing, in a position from which Tanchiefu Light bears N. 88° W. (magnetic) about nine miles. Mariners are warned accordingly.

The Superintendent of Customs and Treaty Power Consuls at Foochow have declared the port of Wenchow to be cholera infected. All vessels arriving from that port on and after August 25th will be governed by the Sanitary Regulations for the port of Foochow.

The total number of deck passengers entered for the twenty-four hours ended at 9 a.m. yesterday was 140, of which the largest entries were 48 and 41.

At the Marine Court yesterday, before Lieutenant-Commander C. F. Hole, R.N., a native boatman was fined $10, or ten days' hard labour in default, for carrying eleven passengers in excess of the number allowed by his licence.

The report of the master of the s.s. Linan (British) which arrived from Shanghai yesterday, stated that one stowaway was discovered on board during the voyage.

Dangerous goods manifested in yesterday's returns included:—150 cases of sodium sulphate, 10 cases of nitric acid and 50 cases of sulphuric acid on the Kohsu Maru from Yokohama and Moji; and 2 cases of phosphorus sulphate on the Tokushima Maru for Bombay.

The French liner Angers arrived yesterday from Marseilles, with about 84 saloon passengers, of which 40 disembarked at Hongkong, and the other 43 passengers are going beyond Hongkong. The Angers also brought mail from Marseilles. She was despatched at 6 p.m. yesterday for the Japanese ports.

At 3 p.m. today the s.s. Namsang of the Indo-China Navigation Co. will be despatched for Calcutta with cargo, and a few passengers.

From Europe, the s.s. Kashgar of the P. & O. is expected to arrive in port today at daylight with cargo, passengers and mail. She will be despatched for Kobe, Yokohama and Shanghai to-morrow at daylight.

A wireless message received by the Naval Authorities in Hongkong on Tuesday from the Menado Maru (Japanese) stated that the vessel had been pirated in Blenheim Reach, near Whampoa, 17 miles from Canton, but a later message stated that the pirates had left the ship and that the passengers and crew were safe and that no cargo had been taken, but that it was anticipated that the pirates might return. The Menado Maru was on the way to Canton at the time, and as no further messages of a renewed attack by pirates has reached here, it is gathered that the Menado Maru reached her destination safely, especially in view of the fact that naval boats would not be far away.

VESSELS IN DOCK.

The following vessels are in dock at Tientsin:—Helena and Ningpo.
 At Kowloon Dock:—Tai Tak.
